Valuable Family Medicines.

JUST received direct from the proprietors, the following valuable Medicines, all of which have been in use for a number of years past, in almost every part of the United States; have been highly patronised by people of the first respectability; and approved by those who have had occasion to make use of them, for the cure of those disorders, for which they are severally calculated.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills,

Universally known and used throughout the United States as a Family Medicine. The fame of these pills has become so great that many have attempted to counterfeit them—to guard against this, the proprietors have procured a Stereotype Label, and each box of Genuine Lee's Pills will hereafter be enclosed in one of these labels, with these words on the sides: "Lee's Genuine Windham Bilious Pills," and on the end of the Label the words, "Samuel Lee, patentee, &c. I. Thompson, agent, joint proprietor," &c. and should any be offered for sale without said Label on them, the purchaser may be apprised that they are counterfeit.

Dr. Thompson's Celebrated Eye-Water:

For the cure of inflamed and sore eyes of almost every description. This valuable preparation comes highly recommended from the most respectable sources. Price 50 and 25 cents a bottle.

Dr. Rawson's Genuine Itch Ointment:

A certain and safe cure for that disagreeable complaint, as well as other irruptions of the skin. Price 37½ cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious and Stomachic Bitters,

For weakly and infirm constitutions. Price 37½ cents a box.

Hinckley's Infallible Remedy for the Piles,

A most valuable medicine. Price 50 cents a box.

Specific Drops for the Tooth Ache,

Which in almost every case, gives instant relief, in that distressing complaint. Price 37½ cents a bottle.

Cooley's Vegetable Elixir, for Coughs, Asthmas, Consumptions, &c.

A very valuable medicine in those complaints. Price 50 cents a bottle.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

On this subject, the Aurora, (of the 30th and 31st of March) contains a long and elaborate examination of the merits of certain distinguished individuals whom the writer conceives most likely to be candidates, at the next election, for the office of chief magistrate of the union, if not at the end of Mr. Monroe's first, certainly at the expiration of his second, term of service in 1825. It must be confessed that throughout this article there is a display of keenness and foresight which bespeaks a pretty accurate calculation as to the final result of the question he has thus boldly undertaken to canvass; but amongst so many aspirants, it is almost out of the reach of political sagacity to "say which grain will grow, and which will not;" for with such a galaxy of talent as the nation can now boast of, competitors will no doubt become more numerous every term. We trust the people will take the business of electing the president and vice president of the United States more immediately into their own hands, and no longer permit a modern "prætorian band," under the garb of a caucus, "to give away the empire," without their consent. On this subject we shall never sacrifice principle to personal considerations; we stand pledged to no man or party; we declare ourselves for the people in defiance of all corruption or intrigue, in whatever quarter it may appear; and the hireling scribblers, (whom we know are already on the ground pensioned with office and patronage, waiting to obey the commands of their masters), or the legitimates who publish "by authority," may equally expect to meet, in this print, such endeavors to detect and expose political knavery as the rights and safety of the people imperiously demand, whenever such a momentous question may be agitated. The course pursued by this paper on a former similar occasion, gave it that eclat for honesty and integrity of intention, it shall in future be its greatest gratification to merit.

That our readers may perfuse what has just been said on this topic, we subjoin the following extracts:

"The election of president of the United States takes place in the ensuing year 1820. The whole of the proceedings of the executive government for the two past years, have been regulated by views to a re-election. The whole interests of society have been sacrificed to this single object; as Mr: Monroe himself predicted they would be, when discussing the federal government in the Virginia convention. Every thing at this moment bends to the re-election of the president; or the intrigues of competitors. The southern interests and the west united, and the centre states, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Jersey, and New-York, bought up by corruption, or palsied by the usual modes of despotism, a systematic distraction and calumny of any man who dares dispute the title of the anointed of caucus; must render the eastern state a compound of mere negative character, or open to their selfishness or laxity of moral character the opportunity of counting in on the lists of those whom it would be hopeless to oppose.

This is the general appearance of things now in silent progression. Meanwhile other elements are revealing themselves; from which it may not be amiss to draw aside the veil so that as events rise, the public eye may not mistake or confound objects.

There are no less than six candidates spoken of for the station of president of the United States. There was a seventh whom they feared, and whom all were concerned in one shape or another to revere; and yet every effort was made, to remove him from the public affection.

In the south, Monroe, Crawford; in the west, Clay; in the centre, Clinton, Tompkins; in the east, J. Q. Adams.

Here are six persons well known to the country in one shape or another, towards whom their several friends look as candidates in 1820.

The actual president last year visited the east to see how the land lay in that quarter and appears to have returned perfectly saturated with oriental adulation. This year he travels with the sun towards the south, and will probably obtain as much incense there, as if he were one of the eastern Lama.

During all this time, Mr. Crawford, by means of the vast scope of the revenue dependence—the land offices—bank offices—custom houses, &c. has been laying the meshes of entanglement for the unwary and the sordid. In Georgia and South Carolina, in North Carolina and Virginia, Mr. Crawford has the ascendency of numbers and influence. Gallatin returns in the present year from France, to aid Mr. Crawford, and John Randolph comes into congress by the ensuing election for the same purpose.

"The persecution of gen. Jackson originated with this faction—and his ruin and disgrace was supposed practicable under treasury influence, for to destroy Jackson's influence in Tennessee and Louisiana, and the Mississippi States, was deemed necessary to the views of this new faction, whose views can never be mistaken by paying a strict regard to their organ, the Richmond Enquirer Crawford's efforts on Pennsylvania, tho' preposterous, cannot be mistaken by any one conversant with the profligate characters which the influence of the general government pushes upon the people of this state; and this may be specially perceived in the stupid attack through the senate, and the vulgar malignity of the chairman, Lacock—who before long will be found rewarded by some treasury job, either to himself or his son, or son-in-law, for his use and benefit, in consequence of this degradation of public character and decency.

Mr. Clay is the eye of his friends; it was one of the causes of determining the politics of the cabinet, against the South Americans, and the shameless war of arms and calumny made on the patriots, under executive authority that Mr. Clay might derive a dangerous popularity by carrying any measure favorable to independence in congress; this was a leading cause of the cabinet policy in that case. To prevent this, a number of clerks were employed in the department of state, in transcribing instructions from the secretary of state which were distributed by messengers from that department to the members of congress, the night previous to the vote upon the South American question; on which occasion, the executive instruction was implicitly obeyed by all but about 25 members. This act, however, was that also of a presidential rival.

Mr. Adams entered the department of state on a compromise, which reserved to him his opinions on government, his royal predilections, and his omnipotence of the legislature and his contempt for written constitutions; but bound him to maintain a general policy calculated to preserve the system of Madison, the English ascendancy in matters of trade and policy, the sacrifice and obstruction of the manufacturing system, and the consolidation of the New-England interest with the system of Virginia. In this consideration he was to be the heir apparent of 1825. Thus he became the friend of Mr. Monroe and the rival of Mr. Clay both as secretary of state and future president. He became also the rival of Mr. Crawford, as future president. And the spirit of these rivalships are unequivocally indicated in measures that are recent. The rivalship of Mr. Adams was associated with that of Mr. Pope of Kentucky, by their marriage to two sisters; Mr. Pope has been for some time Mr. Clay's rival in Kentucky. It is generally believed among the knowing ones at Macsycophantsburg, that the hostility of Mr. Clay to Gen. Jackson has grown out of the circumstance of Mr Adams' vindication of him; and that Mr. Crawford's enmity to Gen. Jackson has been invigorated by the rivalship between the secretary of state and treasury who each aspire to the diadem. We do not vouch for the fact, but it is reported that Mr. Clay and Mr. Crawford have a political understanding; while others seeing how Mr. Clay strenuously supports the president, while he attacks the secretary of state; think that an arrangement may take place after the 4th March, 1821, contingent on events before that period, which may be as surprising as the coalition of James Monroe and J. Q. Adams.

Of the other candidates little is said on the affirmative side. It would not be known in the United States, that any pretensions were set up by the friends of Mr. Clinton, were it not for the fears betrayed, in the flood of slander let loose on him under the official patronage of the United States' executive, in a paper established for the purpose, and obtaining the reward which is commonly used by the department of state as the testimony of approbation and disapprobation."

From M. M. Noah's Travels in Europe and Africa.

TURKISH WOMEN.

Turkish women have been for ages the theme of the Poet and the subject of the painter—the glowing description of oriental writers, have dazzled the imagination and misled the judgement. We read the warm and animated accounts of Turkish beauties, from the pen of lady Mary Montague—a deep and pleasing impression is made upon us from the Arabian Nights and Persian Tales: and all the highly colored fictions which we have perused have taught us to expect something more than mortal. One circumstance has greatly aided the delusion, and that is, Turkish beauties are so closely confined, and so carefully veiled when abroad, that every thing is left to the imagination, and consequently, the picture becomes highly colored. Those which I saw was by accident, and therefore I had but an imperfect opportunity of forming a judgement upon the subject. I collected, however, from the ladies of Tunis, such information as gave me a correct idea of their persons and pursuits.

The women are mostly brunettes—but few of the natives are very fair; they have black eyes that sparkle with vivacity, generally fine teeth, and as far as my observation permitted me to form an opinion, I should judge, that Spanish and Turkish women resemble each other in complexion and features. The person of a Moorish woman, if fashionable, is corpulent and unwieldly; taking little or no exercise, indolent, and feasting upon the most fattening substances; they are generally heavy and gross, and being deprived of opportunities to cultivate their minds, the extent of their accomplishments is a knowledge of embroidery and making conserves, of which they are amazingly fond. Having no intercourse with the world, restrained in their pursuits, and guarded with jealousy in their movements, they are ignorant of society and of manners. They marry very young, which, with them, is a civil and not a religious tye, to be dissolved almost at the will of the husband. The parties never see each other, the match being concluded by the parents, and may be justly compared to a lottery, and at all its risks; the fortune of the lady seldom consists of more than a few trunks of clothes gaudily arranged. The bride is enclosed in a species of cage, covered with silk, and placed on the back of a camel, whose head and tail are ornamented with ribbands. A few musicians and slaves, carrying on their heads dishes of Cooscoso, or Pillaw, together with the rabble, form a procession to the house of the bridegroom, where the ceremony concludes with a feast, and the firing of muskets during the night. Thus allied without a knowledge of each others' virtues and attractions, without love or sentiment, it will readily be imagined that the marriage state in Turkey is but an improved species of slavery. Polygamy being allowed, the husband repudiates his wife when he pleases, by conforming to some frivolous ceremonies. Thus situated, the women finding themselves neglected, without influence or society, without tenderness or affection, they are ever on the alert to intrigue, and particularly with the Christians, altho' they are aware that detection is followed by inevitable destruction to both parties. They walk on the terraces, and frequently unveil themselves. I never passed a Moorish woman on the road, who was generally on a mule, led by a slave or a husband, but she seized upon an opportunity to remove the silk covering from her face, either to gratify her curiosity or my own. They have been known to go to baths with the hope of meeting a christian, and have frequently asked of them when unobserved, to repeat the manner in which christians treat their wives, whether kind or affectionate, conciliatory and humane; and the reply always produced melancholy comparisons.

When asked by a christian what would be the consequence of the detection of an intrigue, the Moorish lady replied, "nothing to you—you will only loose your head, but I will be carried about town on a mule, with my face uncovered, and finally drowned in the lake." The sense of shame creating greater alarm than the punishment of death. The detection of an intrigue, if brought home to the parties, is generally punished with death—it is the religion which is violated, and which cannot be appeased by any subordinate sacrifice; hence the Moors, are particulary vigilent, and the women guarded. Having occasion to visit a country house near Carthage, belonging to a Moor which was to let, I met the owner at the door, who enquired what my business was; being informed, he proceeded to shew me the house, and just as I entered the hall, he asked the drogoman what consul I was; being answered the American consul, he cried out suddenly, run and tell the women quick to get out of the way, it is the American consul who is coming. This was the first time I knew that Americans were objects of so much dread to Moorish husbands. The women waddled to their alcoves, as fast as their corpulent persons would permit, and I discovered some peeping through the crevices of the curtains.

An Irish captain of dragoons, who was on a visit to Tunis, accompanied me one day to the palace at Bardo, after having received a very necessary caution, not to indulge his curiosity in looking at the windows of the harem. Such admonitions, with gentlemen of his nation, lose their effect, and, in crossing the patio, he suddenly cried out, there are two beautiful women peeping through the lattices, to whom, without ceremony, he kissed his hand. I expected that this act of well meant gallantry, would, if observed, have been paid by a ball from the musket of some Janissary on guard; fortunately the action was unnoticed, and on drawing him away from the dangerous spot, accompanied with a necessary expostulation, he excused himself by pleading the utter impossibility of an Irishman's passing a petticoat in a strange country, without a complimentary salute.

The ladies of the harem dress richly; having no employment, their day is principally devoted to the toilet; they wear velvets, silks and gauzes, beautifully embroidered at the bosoms, and cut up in caftans and robes, without taste; bare feet and embroidered slippers, the hair loose and filled with jewels, and heavy earrings and bracelets, and cinctures around their ancles. The costume of a turkish lady of rank is a singular mixture of splendor, cut up and formed with a barbarous taste, and her appearance betrays a person half civilized and half savage. They use abundance of otto of roses, which is manufactured at Tunis, of the first quality, and powder the hair with pulverized cloves.

By a gentleman from St. Thomas we are favored with the following state of affairs on the Spanish Maine.

[Baltimore M. C. H. Books.

Margaretta, March 17, 1819.

We learn that affairs are going on very prosperously in that quarter. On the 6th of March, near Cassaugua, the army of Morillo was attacked by Gen. Pies, who completely defeated the Royalists with the loss of 600 killed on the field—no prisoners. Loss of the Patriots 64 killed. Morillo and his army so situate that a retreat was impossible; and that Gen. Bolivar was only waiting for a division of 2500 English troops, which were ascending the Orinoco to join him, when the destruction of Morillo and his army would be inevitable; 500 English troops had arrived at Juan Griego, (Margaretta) and col. English, with 2500 more was daily expected, when the expedition fitting out against Cumana, at Juan Griego, under the command of Gen. Oudinette, will be 6000 strong, (3000 English, and 3000 natives,) assisted by the squadron consisting of 15 sail well manned and equipped, under the command of Admiral Brion. Generals Oudenette and Valdes, with Col. Needham and several other officers of distinction, had arrived at Juan Griego, from Augostura, to join the expedition. Admiral Brion had sailed on the 14th in pursuit of the royal squadron, and on the 16th chased them into Cumana Bay, when a dreadful cannonading took place and continued the whole day—the result of the attack was not known. The independence of Venezuela will be completed to a certainiy the ensuing campaign—the resources of the Patriots in men, money, and every thing are great.

The patriot brig La Irresistible, of 14 guns arrived at Juan Griego (Margaretta) on the 16th, bringing in with her His Catholic Majesty's late brig Nereyda, of 18 guns and 142 men, captured in lat 9, 17, S. lon. 34, W. after an action of 14 minutes, Nereyda lost 38 killed and 22 wounded. The Irresistible suffered much in spars, rigging and sails, but had none killed, and only the sailing master slightly wounded.

The Nereyda is a very superior vessel of her class, built and launched in France 4 months since for the Spanish Government mounts 18 twenty-four pounders, tons about 450, and was at the time of capture on her way from Cadiz to Rio Janeiro, with despatches announcing the death of the Queen of Spain, &c. All the despatches fell into the hands of the Patriots; she fought desperately until the captain fell, being badly wounded.

Newburyport, April 3.

Arrived below, schnr. Daniel Rapall, long passage from Guadaloupe, with molasses—has lost three men by sickness.

A letter has been received by a gentleman in this city from Batavia, dated, Dec. 21, 1818, says, the last government sale of coffee which took place, left off at 33 dollars per picul.

A letter was received in town this day from the supercargo of the brig Liberty, of this port, dated Bahai, S. A. 4th Feb. which quotes the following prices:—flour 10 a 11 dolls.—gin, Dutch, 1 20 a 1 25—American, 1 15 a 1 20—beef 15 a 17—brandy 2 50—codfish, Am. 4 50 a 6 50; butter 40 cts.—rosin 4 dolls. 50 a 4 75—pitch 4 75 a 5; tar 9 a 10; Straits oil 2 20 a 2 25; pork 18 a 20; soap, brown, 9 a 10; castile 17; wines, Port, 2 15; Catalona, 60; Teneriffe, &c. 100.

Exports—Beef, jerk, 9 dolls. 50; coffee 25, (2 per cwt. duty); hides, dry salted, (26 to 28 lbs.) 2 50 a 2 30 scarce—country do. (14 to 16 lbs.) 1 50, plenty; horns 4 40 a 4 50, plenty; molasses 40 per pipe of 192 galls. scarce and difficult to obtain, a number of vessels waiting—tallow 10 cents per lb.; tobacco, roll, approved, 5 25; refuse do. 3 50, plenty—leaf 5 25.

There were 16 American vessels waiting cargoes.

Accounts from Martinique to day quote fish at 4 50 dolls. Yours, &c

N. OSGOOD.

Philadelphia, April 7.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman of this city to his friend here, dated Batavia, December 28.

"The last government sale of coffee was 23 dollars per picul—it will cost on board 33 a 40 dollars—sugar and spices are high in proportion."

BRIG HOLKAR.

It will be recollected that about a month since, we received by way of St. Domingo and Charleston, a vague account of this vessel having foundered on the voyage from Curacoa to this port, in which it was stated that the captain, mate, and some of the men took to the long boat and it was feared had perished, &c. But the following extract of a letter, from an officer of the sloop Flag of Truce, of this port, to his friend here, dated at Havana, 10th of March, explains in part the mystery, and leaves little doubt that the Holkar was taken, and the officers and passengers murdered by her own crew!

"We sail this day for New Orleans. We have on board, a prisoner, one of the crew of the brig Holkar, of New York, who has been taken here by some persons who know him. The fellow acknowledged the whole, and it is shocking to hear how they murdered the passenger who lay asleep in his birth. After murdering the captain and crew on deck, they entered the cabin, and thrust a harpoon three times into the passenger before it held sufficient to draw him out, when they threw him overboard. The prisoner is a mulatto; he thinks he shall get clear by turning States' evidence.—Another of the Holkar's crew who was here, has gone to Charleston."

Norfolk, April 6.

LATEST FROM BERMUDA.

We learn from Captain Briggs of the schooner Betsey, arrived here last night in nine days from Bermuda, that the numerous depredations committed recently, by Carthagenian privateers cruizing off that Island, on British and American vessels, had induced the Governor to send out two eighteen gun brigs, to cruize for the protection of shipping, bound in and out, with instructions to capture every vessel of this description that they fell in with. The brigs came out in company with the Betsey. Several American vessels were boarded and robbed by these picaroons, a short time before the Betsey sailed, and one of the crew had actually been flogged to death for remonstrating with some severity against their enormities. No papers were brought by the Betsey.

Captain Briggs states, that Markets at Bermuda were excessively dull, and so glutted with American produce, that several vessels which had touched with lumber, flour and bread stuffs, having been unable to effect a sale, higher than cost, had sailed again for the Islands. In corroboration of the above, capt. B. states, that a few days before he sailed, 800 barrels of Alexandria new flour, in excellent order were sold at auction at $8 a 8 50—West India produce of all kinds very scarce and high—Jamaica rum 75 cents—molasses 30 do.—coffee 28 a 30 do—sugar 12 dolls.

Washington, Saturday, April 10.

We have had for the 30 or 40 hours ending at five o'clock yesterday, a gale of wind from the north west, of unusual violence as well as duration.

Heretofore our city has been providentially exempt from the casualty of fire. Alarms of that description, have, however, within a few days been so frequent, as to warn us to greater vigilance and caution.

We have already noticed the fire on I street north, in which three or four small houses were destroyed, between 5 and 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening. These houses belonged to widows McKelden and Keuglie, and others. On Thursday afternoon about the same hour, the alarm of fire was given from the eastern part of the city, and three or four small brick and frame houses, the property of Mr. Law, Mr Taylor and others, on New Jersey Avenue, about a square above the sugar house, were burnt. Owing to the violence of the wind, the flaming cinders flew a great distance, and two or three houses comparatively remote from the fire, would have shared the fate of the smaller houses which were burnt but for the the alacrity of the citizens, who promptly assembled.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock yesterday, whilst the wind blew almost a hurricane, we had another cry of fire, and the citizens promptly turned out: this fire, near Georgetown, though menacing at first, was extinguished without doing much damage.

By the time the engines were fairly housed, the cry of fire was heard from the navy yard quarter; and, on repairing there, it was found to be on the premises belonging to Mr. Griffith Coombe and others, on the river, occupied by Mr. George Beall. This large three story house, and the out houses, were entirely destroyed; and it was considered fortunate that the fire was prevented from extending to the adjacent houses and board yards, which were put in jeopardy, though at some distance, by the flying fire.

Just as the citizens began to retire from this fire, the alarm of fire was given from F street, two squares east of the Treasury Office, and two miles distant from the fire last mentioned. It was of course some time before the citizens and engines could be recalled. They arrived, however, in 15 or 20 minutes, but not in time to save the block of houses on fire. The large three story houses belonging to Mr. Walker, the tavern house belonging to Mr. John A. Wilson, at the corner of F and 14th streets, that of Mr. George Miller, and one or two other houses, were burnt down. Great as has been the loss on this occasion, it is small compared to the destruction which was at first feared, and would certainly have ensued, had not the wind subsided after the fire began to rage. Had it blown as violently as in the morning, there is no knowing where the ravages would have stopped. As it was, several distant houses caught fire on the roof, from flying sparks, which were happily discovered in time to extinguish them.

Besides these serious fires, there were in the course of yesterday several other alarms during the day, from chimnies on fire, &c. and one or two false alarms.

Some think these fires to have been the effect of design. It is certainly a very suspicious circumstance, that the three most serious fires originated in stables. Some horses have been burnt, and much furniture &c. destroyed.

The citizens displayed their usual alacrity at all these fires. It is evident, however, that time and labor would be economised, and efficiency imparted to the physical force of our population, by a general organization of the Fire Companies. &c. under one head, possessing, by the law, competent authority to enforce its orders on all bystanders as well as its own members.

This morning, since the above was written, we have had another alarm of fire. It was at Mr. Lambel's stable, near the Navy Yard; and was extinguished without doing much injury.

Blacking for Boots & Shoes,

Superior to any ever offered to the public.

ROBERT COCHRAN,

No. 48, North Fourth-street, next door to the Green Tree Inn, Philadelphia.

WITH confidence offers to the public, his superior Portable and Liquid blacking, so much admired and approved of, which is manufactured by himself only.

This blacking possesses every desirable quality, being of an oily nature, it preserves the leather perfectly soft to the last, and keeps it from cracking—it is a jet black, affords a most superlative polish, entirely free from any offensive smell, and so clean as not to soil the whitest muslin or any other substance it may chance to run against, and will keep in any climate—it has a peculiar advantage in being put up in a portable manner, and may be packed without possibility of risque, with the nicest clothes or goods. The Portable Blacking is muchadapted for gentleman residing or travelling in the country, where materials for making Blacking is not to had, and as for cheapness and elegance, far exceeds any ever imported or manufactured in the union. Where is sold as above, the beautiful Chinese Liquid Blacking, for ladies morocco boots and shoes, which makes the oldest morocco boots or shoes appear the same as when new. Sold wholesale at the manufactory, as above.

N. B. Please observe that each bottle it sealed and signed by the proprietor, to prevent spurious impressions being imposed on the public.

It may be had at the following places in Alexandria.——Dr. Stabler and Richard Woods on Fairfax street,—Dr. Semmes, & Dr. Little's apothecary shops, on King-street.—Isaac Entwisles, shoe factory, and Thomas Mount's factory & Hardware store on King-street. sw2in March 30

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turupike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.

Vaccine Institution.

THE small pox having appeared in Alexandria, such persons as have been vaccinated by the subscriber are invited to attend at his office, on St. Asaph-street, between Prince and Duke streets, to have their arms examined. Indigent persons are also invited to the same place for the purpose of being vaccinated. The subscriber will attend at his office every day in the week except Sunday, from 7 o'clock until 10 in the morning, for the purpose of receiving them.

He proposes also to be less particular than heretofore in the investigation of their claims to the benefit of the institution, as may respect their indigence and length of residence in town. The subscriber earnestly requests all such citizens as may be acquainted with persons liable to contagion, to send them without delay as above directed, where they will be served effectually and gratuitously.
